The organisers: the grown-ups who run the game

You are the referee. You don't play. You press the buttons at the right time, keep everyone safe, and make sure it's fair.

The big idea

The computer does most of the work by itself: it opens and closes rounds, moves prices and counts the money. You do the few things a computer shouldn't do alone: start the night, roll the dice, let the robot teacher mark the work, and open the awards.

Nobody can change a price by hand. Not even you. That's what makes it fair.

Who does what

Person	Job
👑 Event lead	Runs the night on the Phase page, talks to the room
🏦 Exchange desk	Watches the rounds, fixes money mistakes (needs a second person to approve)
🤖 AI desk	Starts the robot teacher (AI judge) and releases the marks
⚖️ Fairness officer	Checks the "is someone cheating?" flags at the end
💻 Tech helper	Watches the Health page and the Wi-Fi
🎟️ Registration desk	Hands out login cards

The night, step by step

Time	What you do
20:00	Hand out cards. Click Advance to start the night.
20:30	Explain the game (use the briefing script).
21:00	The draw. Type the secret seed and roll the dice. The computer makes the squads.
22:30	Stories (pitches) close by themselves. AI desk clicks Start judging (Pitch).
23:15	Click Seal missing as 0, then Release pitch scores. Prices appear.
23:30	Trading starts by itself. Just watch.
00:30	Oh no! The crisis happens by itself. Tell the room.
03:00	Plans close. AI desk clicks Start judging (Plan) right away.
03:30	Seal missing as 0, Release plan scores.
04:00	Click Publish the flash bulletin (the surprise news).
04:15	Click Start judging (Flash) quickly. You only have 5 minutes!
04:20	Seal missing as 0, Release flash scores.
05:00	The market closes by itself. Ring the bell! 🔔
05:00–05:40	The fairness officer checks the flags.
05:40	Click Advance to the awards. The winners appear on the big screen. 🏆

When something goes wrong

Rule one: press Pause first, think second. Pause freezes the clock for everyone. When you press Resume, everyone gets exactly the time they had left.

Problem	Do this
Teams can't log in	Try phone data instead of Wi-Fi. Lost card? Reprint it at the desk.
Screens say "Reconnecting..."	Wait. They fix themselves in a few seconds.
Rounds don't move	Keep the Phase page open (it helps the clock tick). Use Close round now if needed.
The robot teacher is slow	Open another laptop with "Run the judge here".
The robot teacher is broken	Switch to the backup model. If both are broken, use the human judges (HUMAN-JUDGING.md).
Someone's money is wrong	Ledger → Corrections. One person asks, a second person approves.
The room needs more time	Phase → Extend.
A squad is arguing unfairly in its Chat	Each squad's chat is private to it, but staff can read it (fairness officer: audit log). Talk to the squad.

Golden rules

- 🙈 No rankings before 05:40. Not on the big screen, not in your words.

- 🔐 Keep the secret seed and the cards file secret. Never post them anywhere.
- ⏰ The computer's clock is the boss. 03:00:01 is late.
- 🤝 Tell the room before you resume after a pause.
- 📺 The big screen has a news ticker at the bottom: price moves by ticker, news and deals signed. It never shows team names or rankings.
